

Morrissey Will Co-chair Bar Association Group

Milton resident Francis Morrissey has been appointed by Massachusetts Bar Association President Valerie Yarashus as co-chair of the association's Business Law Section, for the 2009-10 year. His appointment began Sept. 1.

The MBA's Business Law Section is designed to improve the practice of both in-house counsel and outside business counsel through seminars, practice forums, legislation and committee activity in areas including high technology, small business, bankruptcy law, and banking and commercial law.

A partner with Morrissey & Wilson in Boston, Morrissey focuses on commercial litigation and insolvency matters. He has experience representing financial institutions, distressed investors (including hedge funds, private equity funds and strategic investors), creditors and other interested parties in out-of-court workouts and bankruptcy proceedings.

Morrissey also teaches bankruptcy, creditors' rights and secured transactions at Boston University School of Law and New England Law in Boston. In addition, he presently serves as a hearing committee member for the Board of Bar Overseers, an arbitrator for the MBA's Legal Fee Arbitration Board and a referee for the Department of Insurance.

Francis Morrissey

